

Sathya Sai Suprbhatham - English

Easwaramba's resplendent Son It's the start of a bright new day
Time to rise, time to shine, Lord divine Time to lead us along life's way

Awake, Lord of Puttapparthi Awake, Lord of all mankind
Awake, O Lord of compassion That the world good fortune may find

On Chithravathi's peaceful shore stands our hearts' own mansion We yearn to serve you and are longing for your darshan
Morning's begun and o'er the world spreads the radiant sun Sri Sathya Sai Bhagavan, may your glory now dawn

We love to sing your sweet name with blissful emotion We taste the sweet nectar that comes of true devotion
Come shower drops of blessings on us, we pray Gracious One Sri Sathya Sai Bhagavan, may your glory now dawn

We've brought to you colorful flowers with fragrance so sweet Our dear Guru, our object now is to worship your feet
Your devotees are gathered into the place where we meet Sri Sathya Sai Bhagavan, may your glory now dawn

Among the seekers of the world knowledge that you're here grew From far and near people are coming who long to see you
They are reciting Vedic mantras knowing their value Sri Sathya Sai Bhagavaan, may your glory now dawn

Throughout the Earth people of worth are learning of your fame They know your glory and the sweet story of why you came
Seekers of Truth from every land now are singing your name Sri Sathya Sai Bhagavan, may your glory now dawn

Women demure as Mother Sita now sing in rapture Like lotus blooms drawn to the light their hearts are soft and pure
With garlands of sweet flowers they will adorn your picture Sri Sathya Sai Bhagavan, may your glory now dawn

Whoever sings this waking chant Sings it faithfully every day
Great peace to you the Lord will grant And the wisdom for which we pray

Oh auspicious divine teacher Oh auspicious all seeing eye
Oh auspicious Lord of Parthi Oh auspicious Sri Sathya Sai